Hi Penelope!

I absolutely love the direction this is going!! I think you did a great job at creating a classy, but modernized, tone overall. Here are just a few notes moving forward:

- I like the side navigation bar on the first/home page. I'd like to see this on the other pages as well. If it doesn't work on the side, you could put the nav bar on the top for these other pages
- Going off that, it would be really cool for "the history," "the source," "the process," and "the scents" on the home page to have some sort of interaction when the mouse hovers over them (like maybe a little glow or grow or something!)
- Can the text at the bottom of the home page be left aligned rather than justified?
- The images you picked are wonderful!! Make sure the one you end up going with the "The Source" page isn't grainy/blurry
- Can the borders of the squares on "The Scents" page have a heavier weight?
- One last thing to keep in mind is how this will look on a phone screen sized

Again, I'm super excited with how this going! Have a great Thanksgiving!
