

Notes from HTML Review

Bridget Halliday

Email: bahalliday@wustl.edu Phone: 630.210.4614

Project Title: Perfume

Hi Penelope!

I was really excited to see how the microsite is looking so far! I like the navigation bar that you included, and all the links are working well for that! I also think the History tab is the strongest in terms of responsiveness – it looks great! Here are a couple more thoughts for moving forward:

- If possible, maybe the nav bar can be a smaller font size when it's on a small screen like a phone
- Can you make whichever link is active perhaps a different color to indicate which section is currently being read?
- The photo on the Process page gets warped when I make the screen width smaller- if there's a way to fix that, that would be great
- Finish the scents page :) I think the images are a lovely start here though!
- I'm not sure if this is possible, but on the Source page, at a smaller screen size, I wonder if the three sections could be laid out vertically rather than side-by-side? I like how there are in a row currently at a larger width, though

Let me know if you have any questions! Have a great weekend!